Telstra General

Telstra 2010-2012 EBA Cetified by Fair Work Australia

Fair Work Australia (FWA) has ratified the Telstra Enterprise Agreement 2010-2012. This means that the struggle is over for now. Members have been magnificent in their united fight to attain this goal. We are aware that this was not an easy battle and Telstra defied us at every turn however, you the members were determined and your unity of purpose has achieved much.

We know that there are shortcomings in the agreement and the Union will continue to work to rectify this. For example, the difference in the pay between this agreement and the non-Union ECA's is still on the table.

Members are now asked to talk and discuss the benefits of being in the Union with their non-union colleagues and start the re-building of this union. There are many persons out there who signed AWA's and others who were just disillusioned and thought that they did not need to join or did not want to join a union. These colleagues are now seeing the benefits of being a strong and united force.

A Union is like a family – you have squabbles and differences between ourselves but when the family is under fire from outside (management) we close rank and stand shoulder to shoulder.

Members will be informed of further incentives on signing new members in the coming weeks.

The bigger the family the stronger the voice
